

Fig. 7. Average weight-for-height of males with Rubinstein-Taybi syndrome (solid line) compared with 5th, 50th, and 95th centiles in normal males (dashed lines).

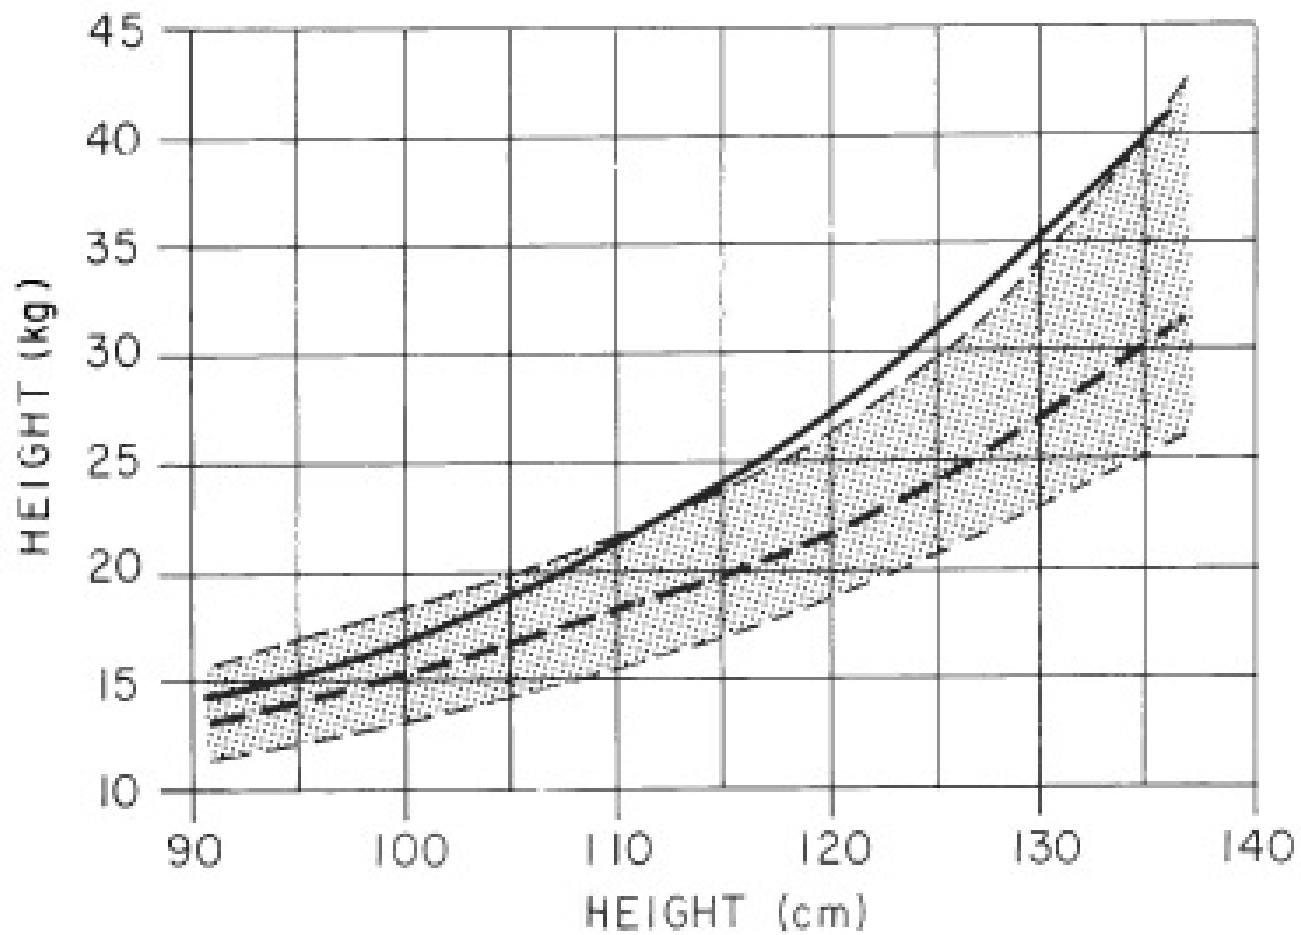

Fig. 8. Average weight-for-height of females with Rubinstein-Taybi syndrome (solid line) compared with 5th, 50th, and 95th centiles in normal females (dashed lines).